READINGS FOR NEXT SUNDAY MAY 1

Acts 5:27-32, 40b-41 Rv 5:11-14 Jn 21:1-19

From the Desk of
Fr. Tony

Today is Divine Mercy Sunday. God's mercy is abundant. God's mercy is more than the water in the ocean. Jesus appeared to Sister Faustina and told her to promote God's divine mercy throughout the whole world. God wants everyone to know he is willing to take everyone to himself.

We see Jesus appearing to Thomas and the other disciples in today's gospel. "Jesus came, although the doors were locked, and stood in their midst and said, "Peace be with you." Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here and see my hands, and bring your hand and put it into my side, and do not be unbelieving, but believe." Thomas answered and said to him, "My Lord and my God!" Jesus said to him, "Have you come to believe because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed." Thomas would not believe Jesus' resurrection unless he saw Jesus' nail marks in Jesus' hands. Sometimes in life we will not get the whole story about our faith. We will be left to believe all that the catholic church teaches. We have to trust Jesus and his church. Jesus help our unbelief. Jesus, you are never separated from your church. Jesus, I believe you rose from the dead and that you give light and life to all those who believe in you. God bless you all.

Fr. Tony

The purpose of World Day of Prayer for Vocations is to publicly fulfill the Lord's instruction to, "Pray the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest" (Mt 9:38; Lk 10:2). As a climax to a prayer that is continually offered throughout the Church, it affirms the primacy of faith and grace in all that concerns vocations to the priesthood and to the consecrated life. While appreciating all vocations, the Church concentrates its attention this day on vocations to the ordained ministries (priesthood and diaconate), consecrated life in all its forms (male and female religious life, societies of apostolic life, consecrated virginity), secular institutes in their diversity of services and membership, and to the missionary life.
